

GURR

Multiheadmix

All images started with a pencil sketch and they got finished with colours from my computer. The way how to use simple tools, makes these results different, as being expected, doing photoshop usually.

This Guckbook is an extraction of the surreal part of a Trainedoodlesketchbook. In the sketchbook there are further drawings of people sitting around me on the way. That's an other art direction. These works are no examples for tricky photo-shopping. It's more about the free flowing mind on a piece of paper and a screen. It's funny to work that way. It makes surrealism going popart.

Drawing with pencil

Airbrush, freestyle

Colour from the can, roughstyle.

Working with the airbrushfunction means to go deeper and deeper into details, that was not my intention with these works. So I switched to easier tools. That was changing the style and made the work fast and funny. Abstraction by chance is a further component that makes illustrating creative, for new ideas were flowing into the work that way. Surrealism is not in the perfection, Surrealism is in the idea that is realized. Abstraction and bold colouration are supporting creativity, that gives surrealism a new direction, fresh and wild. Art is ever surreal for it is ART, artificial and artfull.
