If you put things together, it happens, that something new gets visible, new ideas are created out of old ones. The process of creation happens by the connection and selection of ideas. There is no idea in your head if you didn't put it in there.

BISYNAMICS

The speed of work with a can or the airbrush simplifies creativity. The less time you take to think what to do, the more you have to do intuitively and the more the work gets his own expression. There is no time to ask yourself what or how to do. So you do, what comes out of you, automatically.
